

BEACHES & RETREATS

Here we highlight four of our favourite resorts, all of which can be incorporated into most itineraries travelling to China and South East Asia, offering an idyllic end to your journey...

Crystal blue waters, golden sands, palm trees and a sophisticated resort hotel: the perfect place to relax after your travels. Thailand is already famous as a leading beach destination, as is Peninsula Malaysia - quite simply because they host some of the worlds best beaches. Bali and Lombok too can justify their status as idyllic paradises. We can offer a wide range of resorts, with something to suit all tastes, here we highlight four of our favourites, all of which can be incorporated into most itineraries visiting China and South East Asia.

THE SERAI, CANDIDASA, BALI

A stylish retreat located on a secluded beach on the east coast of the island. Set amidst a coconut grove with rice terraces and the towering Mount Agung as a backdrop, all rooms are constructed in traditional Balinese style and face the ocean. A peaceful modern property which has a relaxed atmosphere and is in harmony with the natural surroundings.

RAYAVADEE, KRABI, THAILAND

Located on the finest Thai beach the Rayavadee offers the ultimate in beach hotel luxury. The individual Lanna style pavilions are set in quiet landscaped gardens. Each of the pavilions is equipped to the very highest standards and the level of service is unparalleled.

PAVILION ACCOMMODATION AT THE RAYAVADEE, KRABI, THAILAND

THE SERAI, CANDIDASA, BALI

THE CHEDI, PHUKET, THAILAND

A world away from Phuket's more brash overcrowded centres, The Chedi sits above Pansea Beach, a delightful secluded stretch of golden white sand. The chalets, which are scattered around the hillside overlooking the turquoise waters of the Andaman Sea, are both spacious and stylish.

THE CHEDI, PHUKET, THAILAND

THE DATAI, LANGKAWI, MALAYSIA

Set in ancient tropical rainforest in a secluded corner of the island this is one of Asia's most exclusive resorts. The main building sits high on the hillside overlooking the luxurious pool and the Andaman Sea, or you may prefer to stay in one of the chalets set in the forest itself, some with their own private pool.

THE DATAI, LANGKAWI, MALAYSIA

