

A section of a stepwell,
Amber village, Jaipur

Rubens and Red Whiskered Bulbuls:

exploring India away from the tourist crowds

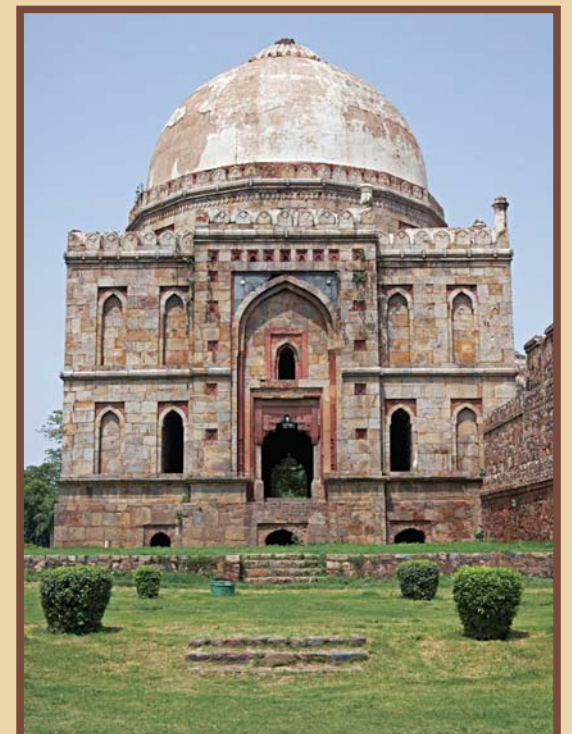

Flower market, Calcutta

Shop selling turbans, Badi Chaupad market, Jaipur

India boasts some major attractions, all of which we recommend visiting, but sometimes the most memorable experiences can be found by stepping away from the tourist trail and exploring the back streets, particularly if you have one of our excellent guides with you. Here, our India specialists suggest some great examples of places where you can combine visits to the major attractions with some time gaining a better insight into local daily life.

Tomb at Lohdi Gardens, Delhi

